Headline:
Rather cloudy and breezy, with a little rain for some.

Today:
A breezy day to come over the hills and around western coasts, with plenty of cloud and some occasional rain or drizzle. Skies should brighten at times across parts of north and east Wales. Feeling warm, especially in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Some lingering drizzle through the evening, especially around coasts and hills in the west. Otherwise a dry night with variable cloud cover. Very mild for most. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Friday:
A fair bit of cloud on Friday morning, perhaps with the odd fog patch. Generally brighter by the afternoon with some warm sunny spells developing. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Generally cloudier but remaining mostly dry during Saturday. Overnight patchy rain clearing southeastwards on Sunday, with brighter skies following. Sunny spells for most on Monday. Gradually turning cooler.
